

ARTIST'S STATEMENT

I have always been drawn to things that are different. The art I create is my way down the rabbit hole. It is my looking glass to the imagination, my leap of faith to places unknown and worlds undiscovered.

It began with a simple logo. From the beginning, the process of transforming a blank canvas into a world you can lose yourself in, has struck me as magical. Over the years, that process has taken my hand and led me along a path to greater discoveries. Turning a hobby into something more. Emotion, imagination and exploration are why I am passionate about the art making process. My art is meant not to tell people what to think, but to believe what it is they see.

I take four images and blend them into a greater composition. I create interactive experiences to give users avenues for exploration. Avenues on which I drive towards my dreams and visions. My dream is to have people jump down that rabbit hole with me.

I like creating art that makes someone stop and wonder. I work with photography and computers to create surreal representations of the things in the world that fascinate me. I open my subconscious and let it take me in, finishing with pieces that are bold and alluring. I like exploring the relationship between what you see and what you feel. What does the heart and mind tell us about something?

That is the question I ask as an artist. I am an artist to answer that question.
